

Resource List for “Mineral Extraction, Renewable Energy and the Climate Emergency, May 10, 2023

Jamie Kneen Bio

1. Canada Program Co-Lead and Outreach Coordinator, Jamie Kneen, leads MiningWatch's work on mining policy development and individual mining projects in western and northern Canada, leading policy reform and providing strategic and technical support to communities affected by mineral exploration and mining projects.

He also leads the organization's strategic research and communications, as well as research and advocacy in Africa (and previously, Latin America), as well as on mine waste management, mining and Indigenous rights, uranium mining, and environmental assessment policy and practice in Canada.

With a degree in Biology (ecology) from McGill University, Jamie has been involved with environmental and resource management issues, including mining, frequently related to indigenous land rights, for many years.
